ACHE-NEVADA CHAPTER

President's Message

Jeremy Bradshaw, FACHE
President, ACHE-Nevada Chapter

Along with the awards we have received last quarter, an ongoing accomplishment for the Nevada Chapter is the success of our new Mentorship Program. We recognize that an integral component of any executive's career is intentional and sincere mentoring. The Mentorship Program encourages a professional and personal relationship that will bring continued success for both participants.

I was 15 when I first started volunteering at my local hospital and I continued through high school. During those summers, I really developed my love for healthcare and began to recognize the importance of what we do. My mentor allowed me to shadow him and left a lasting impression. I personally believe that mentorship benefits both participants and allows them to learn from each other as well as open doors for networking. As a mentor myself, I enjoy meeting with my mentee and consider our discussions as an opportunity to give back.

A Mentoring Mix Up is being planned for program participants that will provide mentees with resources for resume reviews, mock interviews, and interaction with other mentors.

If you are interested in joining the program as a mentor or mentee or would like more information, please reach out to the Mentorship Committee at ACHEmentorshipNV@gmail.com.

Regent's Message

Teressa M. Conley, FACHE
Regent for Nevada

2018 ACHE Congress on Healthcare Leadership

Again, this year, I joined 4,199 others in attendance at the 2018 ACHE Congress on Healthcare Leadership in pursuit of education, knowledge, advancement, professional growth and inspiration. I never leave disappointed. There are hundreds of opportunities and resources to improve leadership skills, learn about the future of healthcare, hear about payer models, cost controls, networking and to hear from top healthcare policy makers in our country. Congress draws a broad spectrum of healthcare leaders and there is something for everyone – seasoned healthcare leaders, mid-careerists, novices and students.

When you consider the elements of a profession – a specialized body of knowledge and research, specialized training, defined scope of practice and ethical standards – it all comes together at Congress.

This year, ACHE celebrated with 85 years of service to healthcare leaders and the organization is more relevant than ever. You can be involved by joining your local ACHE Chapter.

ACHE - Nevada Chapter - Award for Chapter Excellence and Award for Sustained Performance

On behalf of the ACHE - Nevada Chapter and Chapter President Jeremy Bradshaw, FACHE, David Schweer, FACHE (pictured below second row, third from the left) accepted the Award for Chapter Excellence for 2017 presented at the MacEachern luncheon in front of 1,000+ attendees. Your Nevada chapter was one of two chapters to meet three out of four performance measures: education and networking, membership growth, and advancement of eligible members and are working to increase the response rate to member satisfaction.

The chapter also received the Award for Sustained Performance by meeting at least one of the four performance standards for a continuous three years.

Higher Education Network: University of Nevada – Las Vegas (UNLV) Health Administration

As part of the role of the Regent of the Nevada Chapter, we work to support the accreditation of UNLV's health administration program, under the leadership of Christopher R. Cochran, PhD. UNLV is the designated higher education network (HEN) for ACHE in Nevada. Some areas where we support this valuable resource to our profession are:

- * We participate as a community resource to support UNLV's ongoing work towards accreditation for the health administration program;
- * In May, the ACHE Nevada Chapter will award six scholarships to worthy students in the health administration program;
- * The Nevada Chapter was pleased to sponsor six students who attended Congress;
- * Under the student leadership of Cameron Phand, a career fair was held on campus with a number of healthcare employers. The fair was attended by students from UNLV's community health sciences, health administration and nursing programs.

Be safe during the hot summer and drink lots of water!

Welcome to our new ACHE-Nevada members!

Mentorship Program

"You cannot teach a man anything. You can only help him discover it within himself"
-Galileo Galilei

"I am very fortunate to be a part of such an amazing program that I foresee helping me further my career in healthcare. My mentor, Joe White, has been doing an incredible job in guiding me in the right direction in achieving my career goals. It is clear that Joe is passionate about what he does. Also, he is very knowledgeable in the field of healthcare. I could not have been paired with a better mentor. I am looking forward to continuing this incredible experience."

Danny Ciminise – Mentee

"ACHE-Nevada's Mentorship Program is great opportunity to develop Nevada's future healthcare leaders. The program has invested the time and resources to help mentees grow and succeed in their careers. Mentoring allows mentees to learn the ropes of a healthcare organization and it is a proven strategy for development. My mentor, Matt Frye, encourages me to develop the skills that will prepare me for the transition into healthcare administration."

Jay Hay - Mentee

"My name is Andrew Welcome and I am a first-year MHA candidate at the University of Washington. As an aspiring hospital administrator, the Nevada ACHE Mentorship Program has contributed immensely to my education and professional development. I hoped to be matched with a mentor who was part of the organization I will be completing my summer internship at. Not only did my mentor, Mr. Roger Winslow, work for the organization I was interested in, but our professional goals and personal interests also aligned. A mentor/mentee relationship is founded upon mutual respect and aligned passion. I feel that the mentorship program really took this to heart when pairing mentors and mentees. During weekly check-ins, Mr. Winslow augments my academic learnings with practical experience and has helped me build out a plan for emulating a career path similar to his. Doing so not only aides my growth as a young professional, but also fulfills his desire to help develop the next generation of health care leaders."

Andrew Welcome - Mentee

"It has been said that mentors are not there to make us happy; they are there to guide us to the best of their knowledge. I am lucky in that my mentor is able to do both. Going into the ACHE mentorship program, I knew I would learn and be exposed to a lot, but I never realized how much it would help me grow. As a student, I am still learning a lot in the classroom, but my mentor, Jeremy Bradshaw, has been my teacher outside of the classroom and his commitment and dedication to helping me succeed is nothing short of overwhelming. Despite his busy schedule, he has made himself available to me at any time to answer any questions, no matter how small or silly they may be. Every chance he gets, he introduces me to other people I should know, further extending my network. Though our partnership is still young, I have learned and experienced more than I thought I would. I look forward to continuing our relationship well after the end of this program and I cannot recommend the program enough to those who are thinking of becoming or finding a mentor."

AJ Wagner - Mentee

"This program has provided a great opportunity not only for networking in Las Vegas, but also provides some different perspectives from other experiences and organizations that helps provide more well-rounded viewpoints. My mentor, Ryan Jensen, has been very accessible and supportive. It has been a great experience thus far!"

Paige Laughlin - Mentee

"I have truly enjoyed getting to know my mentor better. We had met at a women's networking event last year, but she has taken a genuine interest in my goals, and has extended her network to me. I know that we will remain in contact and she will be someone I seek counsel from in years to come."

Holly O'Brien – Mentee

6 Key Healthcare Trends to Watch in 2018

At the start of 2018, the healthcare industry is on the cusp of more significant change, according to a recent Health Affairs Blog post. Highlighted below are six trends to be on the lookout for.

Insurance Market Stability, With Some Exceptions

The healthcare reform strategy of Republicans going forward will likely be to focus on the states, granting them waivers to experiment with insurance programs and expand Medicaid coverage. That said, healthcare leaders are viewing 2018 as a year of greater insurance market stability. On the other hand, bad debt continues to climb, which means some healthcare leaders still face major financial threats.

Renewed Focus on Value-Based Care

CMS will likely continue to ramp up the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015 that incents clinicians to take risks with alternative payment models. Private sector actions also appear to be expanding and accelerating the value-based payment movement, disrupting the status quo.

To ultimately succeed, health leaders realize that they need to, above all else, excel at attracting and engaging patients, families, caregivers, and consumers. More and more, providers will work with patients, families and caregivers to develop approaches to more actively manage their health and healthcare.

Embracing Standardization and Waste Reduction

Healthcare leaders have a larger and more urgent financial imperative to identify and isolate wasteful practices, cost outliers and the root causes for inefficiencies. These efforts will rely heavily on having accurate and actionable data and analytics.

Increased Drug Market Competition

Congress and the FDA will continue to explore new initiatives designed to unleash more competition that can moderate drug price trends. Efforts could include developing more generics where competition is lacking, streamlining the generic drug approval process, eliminating loopholes that prevent the introduction of competitor drugs and promoting biosimilars.

Data Warehouse Growth and Strides in Interoperability

While providers wait for new interoperability provisions, they continue to build data warehouse systems, enhance data analytics, and train their workforce on IT-related competencies.

CIOs Rank Most Overhyped IT Innovations

When it comes to emerging technologies, not every innovation will make their mark on healthcare in the long run. For instance, CIO members of the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives ranked blockchain technology as the most “overhyped” IT trend in a recent CHIME study, Healthcare IT News reports. Although blockchain technology aims to improve data integrity and advance data security, 48.2 percent of CIOs fail to see its transformative potential.

Other “overhyped” trends, according to the survey, include:

- Cloud computing (23.2 percent)
- Machine learning (7.1 percent)
- Natural language processing (7.1 percent)

Instead, many healthcare organizations are focusing on trends that can make a tangible, positive impact. According to 50 percent of the CIOs surveyed, these promising innovations include Fast Healthcare Interoperability Resources and application programming interfaces. Additionally, 14 percent of CIOs said their organization has launched a dedicated IT innovation center and 25 percent said their health system has formed a partnership focused on innovation with a healthcare IT startup.
